DEATH SEEMS CLOSE TO HOME

Vice-President Sherman Was Well-Known Here After Visit in Rushville Last Year.

MANY MOURN HIS DEMISE

Closest Relations Existed Between James E. Watson And Second Highest Official in United States

A sketch of the life work of Vice-president Sherman will be found on page seven today.

The death of James S. Sherman, vice-president of the United States and candidate for re-election, at his home in Utica, New York last night, seems near at home to Rushville.

Because of his visit here a year ago Mr. Sherman was as well known here as any man of equal prominence in the United States. He was the guest of James E. Watson, one of his closest friends, here October, 10, 1911 and at that time prominent men of all parties were invited in to meet the vice-president.

Rushville people were prepared for the announcement of his death this morning when they read last night's dispatches to the effect that his condition was critical and that his death was but a matter of a few hours.

The acquaintance of many Rushville men with the vice-president, and his visit here last fall, was due to the fact that James E. Watson was a resident of Rushville. Mr. Watson and Mr. Sherman have been close personal friends for a long period of years. Their companionship probably was as marked as that between any other two men in public life in recent years.

They were first associated together in congress and came to know each other very well. A friendship was struck up at their first meeting which became more enduring as time passed. They frequently met at political meetings and conventions, and on a number of occasions Mr. Watson has delivered campaign speeches in the vice-president's home city.

Too, Mr. Watson has made special trips to Utica to visit in the Sherman household. It was for this reason that Mr. Watson frequently urged his friend to come to Indiana and visit in Rushville. Several times the vice-president planned a journey to this city but each time business or politics interfered.

A year ago last August Mr. Watson announced that Mr. Sherman would visit him here a few days during the month and plans were started for a big non-partisan celebration in recognition of the visit of the second highest official in the United States. But Mr. Sherman's plans went awry and he had to postpone the trip.

On October 9, 1911 the vice-president was to speak in Chicago. On the eleventh he was to be the chief orator at a big non-political celebration in a Michigan city at the occasion of the dedication of a dam. Former congressman Watson prevailed on him to spend the day intervening, October 10, here.

The big celebration is fresh in the memory of most Rushville and Rush county people. A reception committee, without regard to party affiliations, was appointed and journeyed to Indianapolis on an I. & C. Continued on page 8.

PREPARING FOR WATSON RALLY

Death of Vice - President Sherman Will Not Interfere With Big Rally Saturday

WILL SPEAK AT TABERNACLE

Visiting Delegations Will Take Part in Monster Parade—Plenty of Music and Red Fire.

The death of Vice-President James S. Sherman will not interfere with the Republican rally Saturday night and plans for the monster celebration are being carried forward. Mr. Sherman was one of James E. Watson's personal friends and they were very close in political matters. Mr. Watson will be unable to attend the funeral and the rally will be held as first proposed.

Mr. Watson's speech at the tabernacle will practically end the Republican campaign in this county. Mr. Watson will be accorded the biggest demonstration ever given him by the people of his own city and county. The committees in charge of the rally are hard at work and the parade, before the speaking, will be the largest ever held here, and the campaign will end in a blaze of "red fire" the like of which has never before been seen in this city.

The line of march has not yet been completed, but the present arrangement calls for the line to form in Eighth street, east and west from Main. The automobiles will form the first section of the parade and will be followed by the marchers. It is expected that at least seven bands and a number of drum corps will be in the parade. Over three thousand pieces of red fire will be used. Every Republican automobile owner has been invited to take part in the parade, and while the committee would like to have all machines decorated, it is not necessary.

The marchers will come in sections. One of the features will be the Republican first voters. The committee is meeting with success and a large number will be in the line. A meeting of the first voters will be held tomorrow night in the sheriff's office in the court house, where arrangements for their part of the parade will be completed.

The advertising committee visited all the surrounding towns and cities yesterday and met encouragement everywhere. At Newcastle a special train was "worked up." It is not known for a certainty that the train will be run but if it does it will stop at Eighth street and the Newcastle delegation will be given a place in the parade. The parade will start at 7:30 o'clock. It is estimated that a crowd of 500 will come from Shelbyville. They will come on the regular train arriving here at 6:50 o'clock and will return on a special after the speaking. An effort is being made to have the train stop at Main street so the Shelbyville crowd can participate in the parade.

The tabernacle, which will seat 3,500 people is expected to be packed for the Watson meeting. For a number of years Mr. Watson has closed the campaign in his home city and the best always comes last.

J. T. ARBUCKLE IS AFTER HIGH OFFICE

Would be Grand Warden of Odd Fellows in State—Grand Lodge Meets Nov. 19.

ISSUES UNIQUE POST CARD

J. T. Arbuckle of this city is a candidate for grand warden of the Odd Fellows grand lodge of Indiana and is making an active canvass for the office. His prospects for election are said to be very bright. The grand lodge will meet in Indianapolis November 19.

A post card has been printed as a means of disseminating the news of Mr. Arbuckle's candidacy. On one side is a fine likeness of Mr. Arbuckle, surrounded by the insignias of four degrees of Odd Fellowship. Below the picture is printed: "Franklin Lodge No. 35, Rushville, Bernice Encampment No. 12 and Rushville Rebekah Lodge No. 132. Compliments of Franklin Lodge No. 35."

On the address side of the card are some statistics regarding Odd Fellowship in Indiana. June 30, 1912 there were 765 subordinate lodges, 85,553 subordinate members, 599 Rebekah lodges, 46,117 Rebekah members and 290 Subordinate Encampments with 18,568 members.

IS TARIFF TO BLAME?

Marion Chronicle: The tariff duty on beef, veal, pork and mutton is less today than it was five years ago. Are the prices any lower? If not, what becomes of the anti-protection argument that the protective tariff is the cause of high prices?

SPEAKS AT SPICELAND.

James Bingham of Indianapolis, attorney general under Frank F. Hanly's administration, delivered a Republican speech in the town hall in Spiceland last night to a large crowd.

SPEECHES MADE AT RALEIGH

The Republican campaign in Rush county outside of Rushville will be closed tonight with a meeting in Milroy. Anderson Percifield of Nashville, Ind., will make the principal speech. The Arlington band will furnish the music. A number from here will attend.

Will M. Sparks and W. R. Jinnett, candidates for the legislature from this county, spoke at Raleigh last night. A good spirit was manifested while the issues of the campaign were being discussed. The county candidates attended the meeting and made a brief appeal for votes.

The only other meeting in the county this week was held at Applegate school house Monday night when A. J. Ross and W. R. Jinnett spoke.

EXPERIENCE AS TEACHER.

Marion Chronicle: It is not a mere theory that suggests the continuation of the Taft administration in order to promote business. It is experience—the experience of the present contrasted with the experience of the past under a democratic administration.

BARN BURNS DOWN.

A barn on Frank Johnson's farm near Glenwood burned to the ground yesterday, causing a loss estimated at fifteen hundred dollars. A horse, farm implements and a quantity of hay and other feed for stock was destroyed in the flames. The origin of the blaze is unknown. Johnson was away at the time and the fire was discovered to a neighbor.

THIS THE NIGHT FOR THE SPOOKS

Everything is in Readiness For The Annual Festival of Fun and Tomfoolery.

GHOSTS AND FARIES ROMP

Indications Are That There Will be Immense Crowd of Masquers Downtown.

into the merry world of make-believe, if you would like to live over again the happy fancies of your long lost childhood, if you would put away for a little while the blunt realities of existence and feel once more the glow and gladness of old-time fairy tales, do up the chores early this evening and come down town to see the Hallowe'en spooks and sprites, ghosts and goblins, elfs and ogres hold their annual festival of fun.

All the people of the town and a considerable number of grown ups are going to participate in this picturesque bit of foolery. They will begin coming forth as soon as the supper hour is over, and by 7:30 o'clock the business district will be clogged and overflowing with them.

Most of us, no matter how old we have grown, are still friends of the fairies, and, too, most of us are still a little bit in love with the imps. They are the beloved playfellows of the dear old days when we still had stardust in our eyes. That is why we have a welcome awaiting them on each of their annual returns. This is why we find ourselves fondly and foolishly hoping that the weather man will be in a pleasant humor and that every tot, eodger and duffer in all the town may be furnished forth with the livery of Spookdom and have his fill of Hallowe'en fun.

It is hoped that the evening may not be marred by any sort of offense. Hallowe'en was not made for rowdism, obscenity and vulgarity, but for harmless frolic. It is one of the happiest of the annual festivals when it is kept free from ruffianism. For the most part, Hallowe'en observances have passed off in an orderly way. This has been due in a considerable degree to the close surveillance the police have kept over the masquers. This same surveillance will be exercised this evening. Many extra officers will be in the crowd, and they will promptly take into custody any person, large or small, whom they see indulging in unbecoming conduct of any kind.

Masquers are warned to keep away from the saloons. Destruction and misplacement of property is also strictly forbidden. Vandalism will not be tolerated. Damaging and destroying the effects of others can not add any real enjoyment to anyone Hallowe'en.

EMPLOYERS WHO COMPETE

Marion Chronicle: So far as the labor question is concerned the competition is now among employes to obtain help. This is infinitely better than competition among the workingmen to find work. The work is here and it is the result of a beneficent administration. A vote for any other than the Taft ticket is a vote to change and any change is at the best a chance that the country can not afford to take.

CONVERTS TO BE RECEIVED SUNDAY

People Who Went Forward at Tabernacle Requested to Affiliate With Church of Their Choice.

FRUITS OF COUNTY CAMPAIGN

Its Influence is Expected to be Felt Here For Months—Increased Church Activity.

That the influence of the Biedervolf revival which closed this week will be felt in Rushville for many weeks to come is the sentiment among the ministers as well as many laymen in Rushville. Its influence will not only be felt here, but to the far corner of Indiana as an attempt will be made to stir the religious forces of other counties to follow the example of Rush county and hold a county-wide evangelistic campaign.

According to the cards which were signed and which have been turned back to the ministers of the various churches designated, at total of 248 people was added to the church roles of the Protestant congregations in the city as a result of the meeting. But the ministers believe that the list will probably reach three hundred as the result of the campaign. There are any number of people who have been persuaded by the sermons of Dr. Biedervolf that they should take up the Christian life, but did not go forward at the tabernacle.

Many signified their intention of joining church during the meetings but they preferred to wait until they closed and then go forward in the church of their choice. Many are expected to join yet for this reason. Also it is believed that church additions will be increased the next few months because of the influence of the meeting on those aside from the number who have already said they intended to join.

The cards returned to the ministers show an approximate total of 248 additions as a result of the tabernacle meeting. These are not all converts to the Christian religion. A small number are people who have moved here but have identified themselves with their church. Others are those who lost interest in church work and resolved to become active in the cause of Jesus Christ again.

The cards were distributed among the churches as follows: Main Street Christian, 101; St. Paul M. E., 85; United Presbyterian, 30; First Presbyterian, 17 and Baptist churches, 15.

All converts at the tabernacle meetings are urged to attend prayer meeting at the church of their choice tonight. All those who are prepared will be baptized at the Christian church. All that can possibly attend will be received into the Christian church Sunday morning.

The St. Paul M. E. congregation plans to make the prayer meeting tonight an echo meeting of the campaign. At the close of the meeting another meeting will be held to organize a personal workers class. The new members will be received into the Methodist church Sunday morning. This is understood to be the plan at all of the churches.

Copies of the magazine which was published by the Biedervolf party and which contained a review of the county campaign here are the instruments which are being used to advertise the meeting all over Indiana. Continued on Page 8.

BY ITS NEWSPAPERS.

The Richmond Item accuses James E. Watson of saying: "There are more frauds, more hypocrites and more d—n scoundrels in Wayne county than in any other county in the whole wide world." If Mr. Watson really said this it is only evidence that it is not always fair for a man to judge a town by its newspaper.

J. G. Criswell, a painter living at 540 North Mulberry St., Hagerstown, Md., states: "I had kidney trouble with a severe pain across my back, and could hardly get up after sitting down. I took Foley Kidney Pills and soon found the pain left my back. I could get up and down with ease, and the bladder action was more regular and normal." Try them at F. B. Johnson & Co.

THE NEW YORK

Uncle Sam's "Last Word" in Warships Successfully Launched.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

New York, Oct. 31.—In the presence of President Taft and a great company of invited guests, the mammoth battleship New York, last word in Uncle Sam's sea fighters, slid into the waters of the East river from the Brooklyn navy yard. It is estimated that 40,000 people witnessed the launching.

CHEER THE COLONEL FORTY-ONE MINUTES

New Yorkers Welcome Roosevelt Back.

New York, Oct. 31.—Last night at Madison Square Garden Colonel Roosevelt spoke to 15,000 people. They cheered him for precisely forty-one minutes and thirty seconds.

There was no indication throughout this storm of applause that it was anything but spontaneous. It was directed at Colonel Roosevelt himself. Oscar S. Straus and Governor Johnson of California, the other speakers, received a hearty welcome from the crowd, but it was Theodore Roosevelt who drew out burst after burst of cheering and shout after shout of greeting. No one forgot that the colonel had been in great danger and was back among his people again.

Throughout the long tumult Colonel Roosevelt stood at the front of the platform looking out on the cheering audience. The strain showed itself in his face, which was not as full as when New York saw him before his wound. By the end of half an hour his face was gleaming with perspiration and his jaws were snapping nervously, as though he were bent upon keeping himself in trim for the speech.

But it was clear that he was enjoying the thunderous reception. Time and again his face broke into smiles and up would go his left arm in greeting to his friends. He made no effort to use his right hand at all, but a gesture from the left was enough to set the crowd into uproar after uproar. Once in a while he would turn from facing the audience, while the singing or cheering in his honor, and would drop a quick comment to Senator Dixon or Governor Johnson, who were standing near him on the platform. It did not take a knowledge of lip reading to know that the colonel was saying that it was a fine meeting.

When at last the uproar was quelled and the colonel was able to start upon his speech, his voice rang as clear and his accents were as firm as ever.

CHECK "STUBS" WERE BURNED

Evidence Against Iron Workers' Secretary Destroyed.

LEO RAPPAPORT'S TESTIMONY

Attorney for Iron Workers Was Put on Stand in Trial of Alleged Dynamiters and Compelled to Tell Jury How He Obtained Possession of John McNamara's Private Papers and Checkbook and Destroyed Them.

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—In the dynamiting cases Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the iron workers' organization before and since the arrest of John J. McNamara was forced to tell the jury that he got possession of McNamara's checkbook and cancelled checks and that he had destroyed them. He said that he took possession of McNamara's private papers, including the blue checkbook and some cancelled checks, and took them with him to California when he went there before McNamara pleaded guilty. His client asked him, he said, to destroy the checks and book and he had done so.

Judge Anderson questioned the witness as to his knowledge of McNamara's confession before he destroyed the checks, and Rappaport admitted that the confession had been made, but said he did not know its full import. The district attorney endeavored to get an admission from the witness that some of the checks represented payments to McNamara, but his memory was defective.

Robert J. Foster, a detective for the Erectors' association, testified to many conversations with Herbert S. Hockin and told the jury how he had arranged with Hockin to get books and papers from the iron workers' office and how he had superintended putting the photograph under the desk of President Ryan. According to Foster, Hockin came to him with many suggestions as to methods for trapping the defendants.

BETTER ROADS

Indiana's Plea to Be Sounded in December Convention.

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—The announcement of the Indiana Better Roads convention to be held in this city Dec. 10-12, under the auspices of the commercial organizations of Indianapolis, is attracting much attention over the state, and there is promise of a large and representative attendance.

Papers and addresses by able speakers will be presented covering the construction and maintenance of highways, improved methods of administration and the proposed law relating to highway commission and state aid, automobile taxes and national aid for national highways. The committee on entertainment promises something novel that will interest the delegates.

There will be a most interesting exhibit of road material and machinery. The United States office of public roads has consented to send its great exhibit to the convention, and Purdue university will exhibit its road testing laboratory.

FATAL AFFRAY

Shots Flew Wild and Struck an "Innocent Bystander."

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 31.—William Lockhart was probably fatally shot in the Hinky Dink Tierney saloon by George Greeno of red light notoriety, who was trying to shoot Bert Hill because the latter was with Mamie Shadrick. Hill was shot in the shoulder, and the woman was struck in the jaw. Lockhart, who was wounded in the abdomen, was an "innocent bystander."

The saloon is headquarters of the election manipulators and adjoins the voting booth of Precinct A of the Sixth ward. One hundred and thirty-five names are registered by voters giving the back room of the saloon as their address.

Refuses Apology to Court.

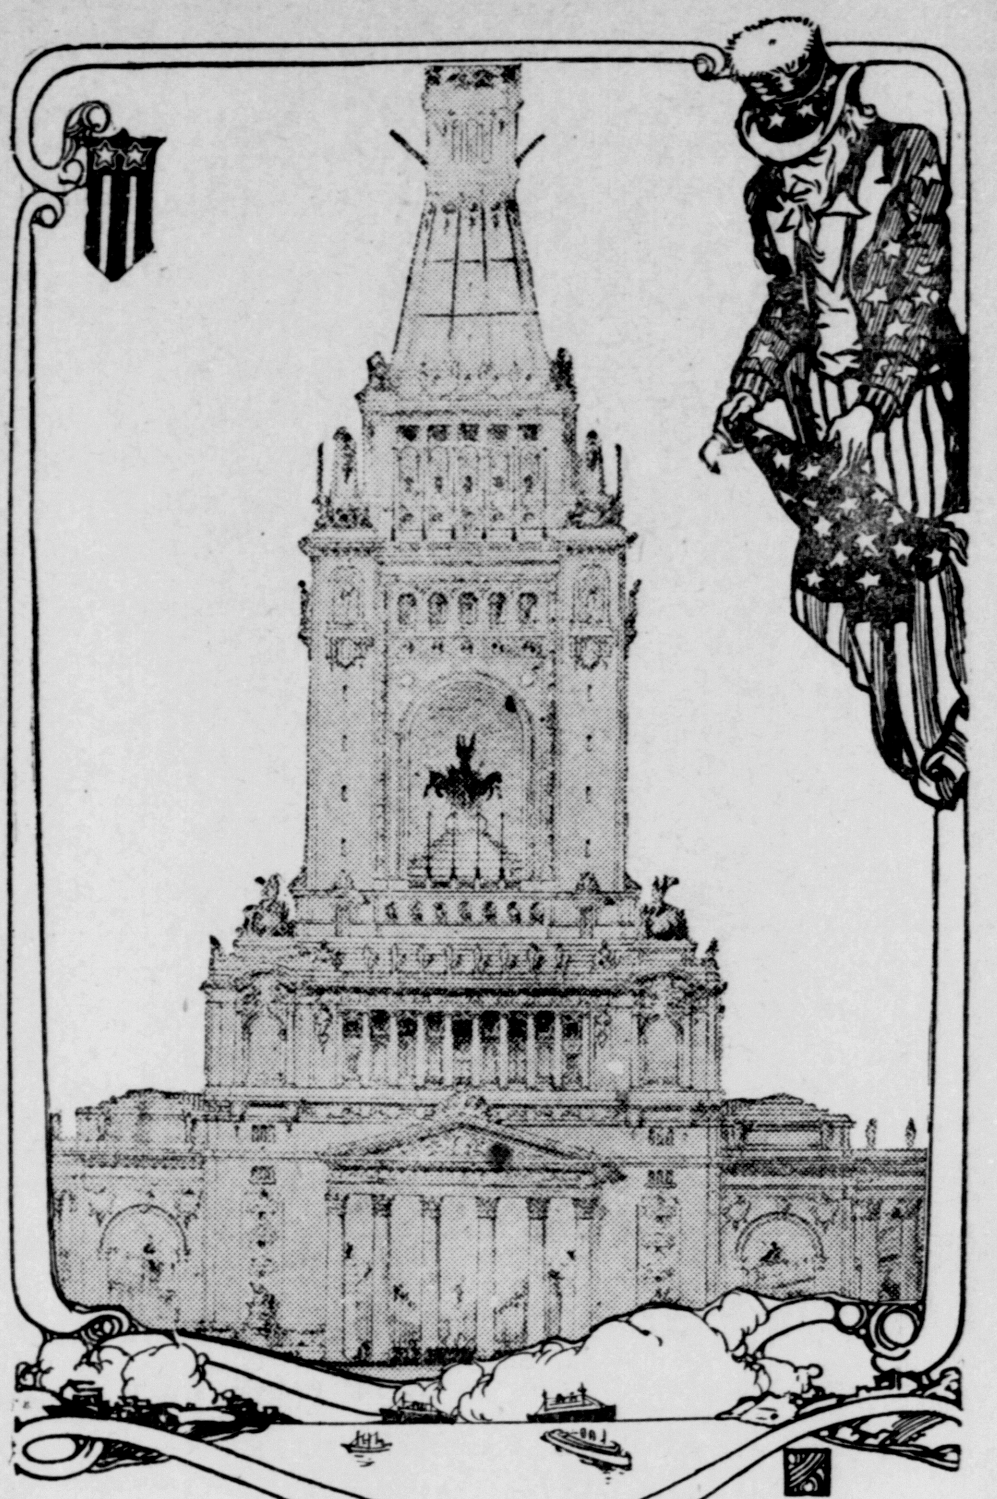

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 31.—At the inquiry of the Taylorville registration cases Inspector Andrew Berkley refused to answer questions on the advice of his attorney, Joseph Roach. Judge Fox ruled the witness should answer and when Roach told Berkley not to answer Judge Fox ordered the attorney to apologize. Roach failed to comply with the court's order and he was sent to jail for two hours for contempt.

May Die From Injuries.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 31.—Walter Stonerock, aged eighteen, a west side youth, who was compelled to "hit the grade" and was struck by a stone by jealous east end youths because he had called on Margaret Keener, is still unconscious. Henry Schiele, aged nineteen, and Walter Smith, aged sixteen, are in jail. Schiele confessed he threw stones. Other arrests will be made. Physicians fear Stonerock will die.

These Rabbits Came High.

Princeton, Ind., Oct. 31.—The most expensive rabbits ever killed in Gibson county were killed by Sam Carter, John Carter and Earl Cox, who were fined $24.75 for hunting out of season.

TOWER OF THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

FROM an architectural viewpoint the dominating feature of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the huge tower of the Administration building. Rising 375 feet in height and flanked on either side by the domes, towers and minarets of the eight great exhibit palaces, the huge tower will be at all times the most conspicuous feature of the Exposition City. From San Francisco harbor it will appear as the central feature in the great rectangle of exhibit palaces, whose sky line will be 110 feet in height, whose domes will rise 144 feet and whose lesser towers will be 175 feet in height. From afar this central group will appear almost as a single palace, four-fifths of a mile long and 1,200 feet in width; nearer at hand it will be found that the exhibit palaces are interspersed with great open courts, each designed by notable groups of America's foremost architects. The inner courts will express the highest ideal of the architect, the sculptor, the colorist and the landscape gardener. The Exposition palaces will be the loftiest ever constructed; the grouping of huge buildings will give an effect of almost inconceivable massiveness and grandeur. At the base of the tower, which will occupy an acre in extent, will be a huge arcade beneath which visitors may enter from the main exposition entrance into the grand Court of Honor. This court, which will be 700 by 900 feet in its greatest dimensions, was designed by McKim, Mead & White.

A LEAP IN DARK.

Mraion Chronicle: Why any farmer or merchant or workman or manufacturer should vote to change this condition is a mystery that no one has yet offered any real reason for. A vote for any one but Taft is a vote to change and this change has been well described as "a leap in the dark" that the country can not afford to take.

We Don't Mix Politics With Business

but we believe like some of our politicians that profits are legitimate only where they come from service. You must under present conditions pay a little more for your shoes, but be sure that the price is legitimate, that you get the full value for the money you spend. You will remember where the shoes were unsatisfactory much longer than you will the price you paid for them. We sell them from $3.00 to $5.00, and every pair is worth the price. Why sacrifice your legitimate earnings by buying them elsewhere. COME AND SEE US.

Watson and Foulke.

"Scholarly, dignified, convincing and pleasing to the large audience at the opera house Tuesday night," says a Shelbyville newspaper of the address of William Dudley Foulke, the Richmond millionaire newspaper publisher and ranter.

Of the Watson meeting the night before the same paper said:

"Mr. Watson's 'hired hands' from Rushville lead in all the applause.

They understood when and where to touch off the fire works, but the touching point was always at the end of some nonsensical story framed to make people laugh, and it is a mighty slow brain that won't laugh at a good story told well."

Six hundred people are all that could be drummed up to hear Foulke. The opera house was packed with seventeen hundred people to hear Watson and hundreds more would have been there if they could have crowded in. You may judge which one the people wanted to hear.

The newspaper is the Shelbyville Republican, which has never had the courage or the backbone, until the last two weeks to come out squarely on the issues of the campaign. The editor waited all those weeks for the band wagon and then didn't climb on it after all.

It was this newspaper that said tickets were furnished free to "many" to make the trip to Shelbyville lead in all the applause, which is a palpable falsehood. The Rushville delegation at the meeting was drowned out by the enthusiastic reception given Mr. Watson by Shelbyville's own people.

One man we know was furnished a free ticket to Shelbyville. He is one of the "main springs" of the local Bull Moose movement who renounced his allegiance to the Big Moose, trampled his Bull Moose pin in the dust and swore fidelity to the Republican party. The next day he came back to Rushville and denied that he had been begged and persuaded to go to Shelbyville.

The great difficulty with the Democratic party, the reason why it has so seldom been given power, is that it is addicted to irresponsible criticism. It has no policy on which the people can depend. When charged with the responsibility of doing anything, it has always made a mess of it or done nothing.

A prominent Democrat living in Marne, Iowa, having been asked to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund, replied that he would like to do so, but if the Democrats came into power he knew that financial gloom would settle over the country and that he must, therefore, protect his credits.

Business men remember 1893 when the last Democratic administration caused universal distress and bankruptcy.

Falsehood's Finish.

Governor Hadley of Missouri, who had charge of Roosevelt's seventy-two contests upon the floor of the Republican national convention—after Roosevelt had abandoned 164 contests which were admittedly without the slightest shadow of a foundation—is squarely supporting President Taft. He says that the Republican party has done nothing to

Sam Sanderson Says:

That ordinarily you have to present citizens with a chromo and a trading stamp to make them vote, but this year it looks as if they would do it without any premiums.

mar its splendid record of decency and honesty.

Governor Deneen of Illinois, who materially aided Roosevelt's cause in the pre-convention campaign and who prepared a resolution at the Chicago convention in the interest of the Roosevelt claimants, is also openly supporting President Taft. He declares that Roosevelt confessed to him that there were only thirty-four delegates whose cases had possible merit and that even regarding these honest men might have a difference of opinion. Colonel Roosevelt, with characteristic vituperation, denounce Governor Deneen as a falsifier and a crook. The people of Illinois know whom to believe.

The testimony and attitude of these men, former supporters of the now bolting Third Party and Third Term candidate, will put a quietus upon the false and malicious accusations of Colonel Roosevelt concerning so-called stolen delegates. There never was any foundation for the charge, but gradually and surely the truth is becoming known.

Wilson enthusiasts look queer when they try to make a list of states with the necessary 266 electoral votes.

Did the workingmen or the farmers prosper after the 1892 election of a Democratic president? They did not.

With all of his experience Mr. Bryan ought to tell Mr. Wilson not to place too much faith in straw votes.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

SWEET AND DEAR.

(Chicago Inter-Ocean.)

Nothing in the comradeship and loves of David and Jonathan, Castor and Pollux, or all the brotherhoods of myths or history is so "sweet and dear" as the message with which Albert Jeremiah Beveridge returned to George W. Perkins the paltry $30,000 he had contributed to Albert's 1904 campaign fund.

Beyond "words to express" was the gratitude with which Albert—whose words had never before failed him—kissed the three checks for $10,000 each and returned them to the "great loyal heart" from which they had exuded as the balm of Gilead for the salvation of Albert's senatorial hopes.

Thanks to the liberality of the national Republican committee, Albert had no use for "a cent of the magnificent amount," or the "splendid sum" that George had so generously placed at his disposal to keep the Democratic wolves from the door to the United States Senate.

And so they went back with the most tender assurance that:

"Your beautiful friendship, steadily proved as the years pass, is very sweet and dear to me.

With tenderest affection, as ever,
ALBERT."

Oh, George! Oh, Albert! Oh, mush and molasses!

No wonder George, in the ecstasy of undiluted joy over this saccharine gush of Albert's epistle, only remembered that $10,000 had been returned. Between such "great loyal hearts" what matters an odd $10,000 or two?

No wonder the amount of the base dross was forgotten while the "sweet and dear" evidence of Albert's lovely appreciation was cherished. In George's innermost breast pocket to be produced in the stuffy atmosphere of a congressional committee's investigation. For a moment the air of the room was filled with the mingled odors of sweet lavender, frangipani and patchouli, and then the committee adjourned.

Comments On Durbin

Buffalo News: Governor Durbin is the kind of executive to recall the famous warrior of Wisconsin, who modestly admitted that he "seen his duty and he done it."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Governor Durbin has shown that he sees his duty and is not afraid of it.

Hartford, Conn., Post: There are no vacant rooms to rent in Governor Durbin's spinal column.

New York Herald: Indiana has a real governor in Durbin. His message rings like a trumpet call to battle for the maintenance of law and justice.

Cleveland News: Governor Durbin of Indiana is not a politician afraid of his shadow.

Bridgeport, Conn., Telegram: When it comes to the question of duty, Governor Durbin of Indiana sidetracks politics. That's the right kind of an executive.

Washington Star: Governor Durbin of Indiana executes with courage and fidelity the commission which the people gave him.

Philadelphia Press: Governor Durbin is a man who knows his duty and has the courage to carry out his convictions.

Saratoga, Pa., Tribune: The way Governor Durbin of Indiana slides politics when duty conflicts ought to inspire state executives everywhere.

Troy, N. Y., Times: Governor Durbin of Indiana is a man with a backbone, and it is in good working order.

Milwaukee Free Press: Governor Durbin of Indiana has sprung into a great measure of popularity by simply being a governor, instead of simply a trucking politician.

Newport, R. I., News: Governor Durbin has shown a noble disposition and a fine conception of public duty and the demand of justice.

New York Mail-Express: Indiana has the right man at the helm. He is good enough for a war governor.

Elmira, N. Y., Advertiser: Governor Durbin is a man of determination and "an executive worth his salt."

Saratoga, N. Y., Saratogian: Governor Durbin of Indiana seems to be made out of the right kind of stuff—a material that is even of broader calibre than the mere headship of a commonwealth.

Burlington, Vt., News: Governor Durbin of Indiana is a model for all governors.

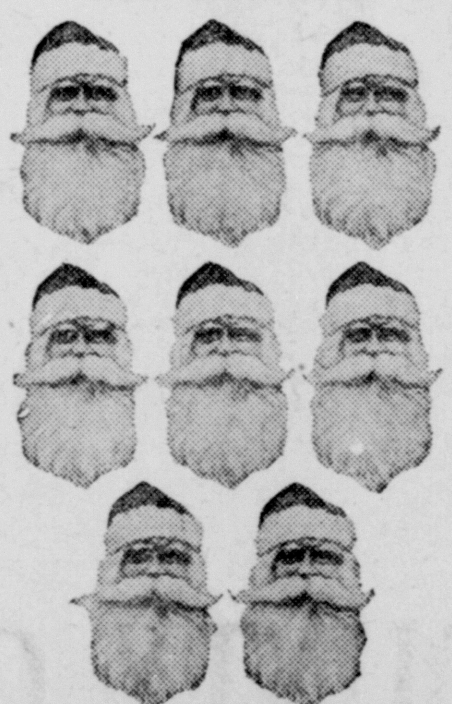

Collier's Weekly, July, 1903: "We may put away the Lanthorn, for a man is found in Governor Durbin of Indiana."

Instructions to Voters

If you desire to vote a straight ticket, then make a cross, thus, X, within the large circle at the head of the ticket containing the device of the party for whose candidate you desire to vote. If you do not desire to vote a straight ticket, you must not make a cross in the large circle containing the device of the party, but must make a cross thus, X, on the small square to the left of the name of each candidate for whom you desire to vote, on whatever list of candidates it may be. If the large circle at the head of the ticket is marked with a cross or otherwise and the ballot is marked at any other place, it will be void and can not be counted. UNLESS there be no candidate for some office in the list printed under such device, in which case you may indicate your choice for such office by making a cross, thus, X, on the square to the left of the name of any candidate for such office of any other list. The cross must be placed within or on the circle or square, or the ballot will be void and can not be counted.

High Standards

One reason why this bank has become a large factor in the important financial and commercial affairs of Rushville is that

It has always maintained a high standard of ideals.

It has confined its business to strictly legitimate channels, and has always sought stability before profit.

It has won the confidence of banks and business men.

It welcomes accounts with business men and individuals who recognize the value of high standards in business.

THREE CANDIDATES MAKE ACCOUNTING

Risk, Gray and Jensen File Statement of Campaign Expenses as Required by Law.

GRAYS IS BY FAR LARGEST

William L. Risk, the Republican nominee for congress, has filed with the clerk of the house of representatives, an account of expenses incurred by him in his candidacy since his nomination. He showed that he had spent $58 in making the fight up to ten days before the election.

A report from Washington says the expense account of Representative Finly Gray, of Connersville, who is seeking another term in congress from the Sixth district on the Democratic ticket, was $220.35.

The expenses of the Rev. G. Jensen, the bull moose candidate, for the same period was $65. No other congressional candidates have filed this statement.

The Palace will again feature Mlle La Belle tonight. The mentalist will also be seen here Friday night. Mlle. La Belle again created a favorable impression last night by her readings. The first film tonight is a solax drama "Mick's Pal" and the other is a Powers comedy "Hats and Happiness."

The Princess has a picture tonight that should be of special interest to all base ball fans. It is the Rube Marquard picture. The picture is said to be very clever and besides showing the New York giants' star pitcher has a romance attached. Alice Joyce is also seen in this picture. Most of the picture was taken at the Polo grounds, New York and Marquard gives a demonstration of his pitching. The other picture is a Selig comedy entitled "Land Sharks vs. Sea Dogs."

PREMIUM LIST IS INCREASED

Corn Growers Expect to Attract More Entries to Annual State Show January 6 to 10.

GRAIN SHOULD BE STORED

The annual State Corn Show, under the auspices of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, will be held at Purdue University, in connection with the Farmers' Short Course, January 6th to 10th, 1913.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee, it was decided to increase the premium list and to make this show larger and better than any one yet held. The corn crop throughout the state gives promise of producing much high class show corn. State corn men are reporting that they are finding in the fields, some excellent ears, and will compete for some of the big premiums offered at the State Show. The premium list is now being prepared and all are sure that there is something good in store for the corn growers this year. Those who hope to make an exhibit at the State Show will do well to select their corn early and store where it will dry out rapidly and where it will be protected from the heavy freezes.

Literature on the selecting and storing of corn can be secured from the secretary of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, Lafayette, Indiana.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN DEAD

Distinguished Patient's Last Hours Peaceful.

PASSES AWAY AS IN SLEEP

Some Hours Before the End Came the Vice President Lapsed Into a State of Coma From Which He Never Rallied—Surrounded by the Devoted Members of His Family, Our Country's Second Dignitary Passes Away.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—At his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock last night, James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died. The vice president lapsed into a state of coma during the afternoon and never rallied, passing from unconsciousness to death.

His end was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons, and their wives. He died in an uraemic coma, as the result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio sclerosis.

The vice president was able to say a few words to his wife and Dr. Peck during a few lucid moments in the morning, but never spoke thereafter. Mrs. Sherman is in a state of near collapse as a result of her husband's end, and Dr. Peck is ministering to her, while her three sons, Sherrill, Richard and Thomas, are seeking to comfort the grief-stricken woman.

A message notifying Mr. Taft of the vice president's death was flashed a few minutes after the end came.

Arrangements for the funeral are being made today. His last resting place will be in a magnificent mausoleum recently erected in Forest Hill cemetery in this city.

James Schoolcraft Sherman played an important part in Republican politics both in this state and in the nation. He was always "regular" and always active. His political career began almost as soon as he was graduated from college, and he held office practically continuously for the last twenty-nine years.

Mr. Sherman was born in New Hartford, a suburb of Utica, on Oct. 24, 1855. Oddly enough his father, General Richard U. Sherman, and two brothers were rock ribbed Democrats, one of his brothers being several times Democratic mayor of Utica, Jim, as he liked to be called, "flopped" over to the Republican side as a young man and, having made his decision, stayed put.

He prepared for college at Whites-town seminary and entered Hamilton, where he was graduated in 1878. He was admitted to the bar in 1880 and by then had attracted the attention of the local leaders, who made him county chairman in Oneida. He made so good as county chairman that two years later he was elected mayor of Utica and was the youngest mayor that city ever had. After that his rise in politics was rapid. In 1892 he was sent as a delegate to the Republican national convention, and he was chairman of the Republican state conventions of 1895, 1900 and 1908. Previously, in 1887, he was elected to the Fifty-fifth congress, and he was re-elected to serve in the Fifty-first, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth congresses. In 1900 the Republican senators caucus committee offered Mr. Sherman the office of secretary of the senate, while he was still a member of the house of representatives, and a little later President McKinley offered him a post as one of the appraisers of the port of New York. But Mr. Sherman's constituents held a mass meeting and asked him to continue to represent them in congress, and he declined the president's offer. That same year he was for several days a close rival of Theodore Roosevelt for the nomination to the vice presidency. Mark Hanna, it was said, at one time looked favorably upon the claims of Mr. Sherman's friends. Mr. Sherman, however, stuck to his congressional job until he was nominated for the vice presidency and elected on the ticket with Mr. Taft in 1908, to be renominated as President Taft's running mate at Chicago this year.

There was never any question of Mr. Sherman's personal popularity. He had a host of friends among the Democrats as well as in his own party at Washington. He radiated good nature and the familiar smile won him the name of "Sunny Jim." He was a big man, tipping the scales at about 225 pounds. He was an enthusiastic golfer and baseball fan.

Mr. Sherman was as shrewd a business man as he was a politician, and he was never so busy in public affairs as to forget to attend to things at home. He was interested in many manufacturing concerns and was president of the Utica Trust and Deposit company and the New Hartford Canning company. He was a member of the Metropolitan club of Washington and the Union League, Republican and Transportation clubs of New York.

The manufacturing plant of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia Steel company at Lebanon, Pa., was sold at public auction at the instance of the holders of a mortgage given in security of a bond issue. The plant complete was purchased by the bondholders for $17,000.

TO NAME SUCCESSOR AFTER THE ELECTION

No Time to Fill Sherman's Place Before.

New York, Oct. 31.—This statement regarding the vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket was given out this morning by Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee:

"The national convention which met in Chicago in June delegated to the national committee the power to fill vacancies on the national ticket. The death of Mr. Sherman, the candidate of the Republican party for vice president at the coming election, makes it incumbent on the national committee to nominate a candidate in his place. That nomination, however, cannot possibly be made prior to the election next Tuesday. Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice could not be less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election. Meantime, no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the votes to be cast then are for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice president, and the death of Mr. Sherman, therefore, does not affect the validity of the election of the electors.

"I have called a meeting of the national committee to meet upon the 12th day of November, in the city of Chicago, at the Auditorium hotel at 12 o'clock noon, to select a successor of the late James S. Sherman as candidate of the Republican party for vice president of the United States."

CONFLICT GROWS DAILY BITTERER

Balkan War Lets Loose Flood of Hate.

DEADLIEST PASSIONS AROUSED

The Rage of Ages of Smouldering Enmity Has Broken Loose in Struggle Now Being Waged Between Moslem and Christian on the Border Land of Islamism and Modern Rules of Warfare Are Forgotten.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—After two days' fighting the Bulgarian army has gained a complete victory over the principal Turkish forces. The Turks have retreated in disorder.

London, Oct. 31.—The Turks say that their troops have made a sally from bottled up Adrianople. They broke out from the suburbs to the southwest of the city and say they headed toward Maras. The Ottomans say that 4,000 Bulgarians were cut to pieces by the charge of the sultan's men and were driven back to Komateul, six miles to the south of the city.

The correspondents with the Bulgarians, on the other hand, send word that Adrianople still suffers from the shells of the artillery thrown from a lofty summit overlooking the city. Fresh troops are arriving daily, according to the dispatches, to the reinforcement of the Bulgarians, and instead of being thrown back, they are drawing closer the grim lines around the besieged city.

Between Veles, captured by the Serbians, and Salinka, the Turks have massed some 35,000 men besides the whipped remnants of the army that ran before the Serbs at Koumanovo. In all, the Serbians claim the capture of twenty-two towns in Macedonia.

There is not a Turk force worth the mention in the whole sanjak of Novi-bazar, according to dispatches from Belgrade, and the Montenegrin and Serbian forces there can strike hands.

No news has come from the Turkish war minister, Nazim Pasha, reported to be facing in desperation the Bulgarians who were circling round his flank in the country between Tule Burgas and Baba Eski. He said Tuesday that an important battle was in progress all along his front. Today he tells of the sortie of the Turk garrison at Adrianople to the north of him.

Above Adrianople yesterday there swung two lines high up in the sky. It was a Russian biplane operating for the Bulgarians in an attempt to discover just what are the conditions in the besieged city. Instantly Turkish artillery was aimed upward. Of a sudden there was a fluttering movement of the plane and it flipped to earth, throwing out the aviator.

The Montenegrins report that they have completely encircled Scutari. The central column, under Crown Prince Danilo, has at last come in touch with General Martinovitch's columns, and King Nicholas is reported as saying that the capture of the Turkish town would have come about several days ago had he not wished to have spared the lives of his fighters. Persistent reports that the Turks in their retreat are responsible for the most horrible massacres continue to come in to the capitals of the Balkans, and particularly from northern Macedonia comes the cry that the Turk is abroad with his knife, killing helpless Christian women and children.

BLOODY CLASH

Textile Operatives and Police Mix It at Little Falls.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Quiet prevails here following the bloody clash between the local police and frenzied textile operatives, led by organizers of the Industrial Workers of the world, which resulted in the stabbing of a special policeman and the perhaps fatal shooting of a second police officer. Fully a score of strikers had their heads battered and more than thirty were taken into custody, including the leaders of the mob. With the leaders of the strike behind bars the police apprehend no further serious trouble.

Overcome by Cigarettes.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 31.—The smoking of a dozen or more cigarettes before school opened caused Russell Riggins, aged fourteen, to become unconscious and he is in a serious condition. The boy collapsed just before he entered the building. It is believed he smoked the cigarettes on a dare.

ADJOURNED FEAST IN SHERMAN'S MEMORY

President Taft Deeply Affected By Sad News.

New York, Oct. 31.—When he received the news of Vice President Sherman's death last night, President Taft was much affected. The president was seated at the banquet table in the Thirteenth regiment armory, Brooklyn, as the chief guest of the navy yard employees after the launching of the new battleship New York. The message was brought to him by a secret service man.

"Oh, my God!" he exclaimed. Then he told those nearest to him of the death of Mr. Sherman. Tears sprang to his eyes and he stared straight ahead. When the Brooklyn navy yard's constructor, who was speaking at the time, finished his speech, the president arose. With a voice that quivered with emotion, he said:

"My friends, three years ago, at the launching of the Florida, you all met the vice president of the United States. Word has just come to me that he is dead.

"Those who knew him loved him. His death is a great loss to all. I venture therefore to ask you all that this meeting be adjourned in honor of his memory."

As the president ceased speaking all arose, with heads bowed, and quietly passed out of the armory.

The president, greatly affected, went slowly away on the arm of Secretary of the Navy Meyer. He reached the Pennsylvania railroad station at 10:35 o'clock and went directly to his private car. Half an hour later he issued a statement highly eulogistic of Mr. Sherman's character and work.

BECKER HOPEFUL

Sends Word From Death House That He Eventually Will Go Clear.

New York, Oct. 31.—Charles Becker, convicted in the first degree of the murder of Herman Rosenthal and sentenced to die in the electric chair on Dec. 9, is today lodged in the death house at Sing Sing prison, waiting the outcome of his appeal for a retrial of his case, or for the execution of the penalty upon his body. When he passed into his cell after a nerve-shattering journey from the courtroom where his doom was pronounced, his identity as Charles Becker was lost. Henceforth he is No. 62,449. His cell is No. 11 in the row of fourteen. Ten other murderers are his only companions.

Becker says he is confident that he will eventually be acquitted, and all the hours of his confinement will be devoted to planning for the new trial he is so sure will be granted him.

"Whispering Burglar" Sentenced.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 31.—County Judge Platt sentenced Frederick Fawcett, alias Harry Jones, a burglar, to thirty-four years and six months in Sing Sing prison at hard labor. The prisoner, who was known as the "whispering burglar," was accused of robbing the homes of many wealthy New Yorkers on Long Island. As Jones already has spent twenty years, according to his own admission, in prisons, his total sentences aggregate over half a century.

The Decline of Illiteracy.

Washington, Oct. 31.—There are fewer persons in the United States who can neither read nor write than ever before in the nation's history, according to special illiteracy statistics made public by the census bureau. In the entire population illiteracy has declined from 10.7 in 1900 to 7.7 per cent in 1910.

Mrs. Emma Reel Expires at Home of Elvin Cook.

Mrs. Emma Reel, 65 years old, wife of Dan S. Reel, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. Reel's sister, Mrs. Elvin Cook, three miles northwest of the city. Mrs. Reel became ill in Dallas, Texas, and was brought here hoping to improve her health. Mr. Reel is a native of Jackson township and only recently came back from Texas after an absence of twenty-six years. Mrs. Reel is survived by her husband. The funeral services will be held at the Cook residence Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in East Hill Cemetery.

PRIZES OFFERED TO HOUSEWIVES

Apple Show Commission Will Make Awards for Best Exhibit of Apple Pie.

AND OTHER FRUITS OF KITCHEN

Competition Will be Limited to Old Stand-by Receipts That Grandmother Used.

The Apple Show Commission has great faith in the cooking ability of the Indiana housewife. At a recent meeting of this body it was decided to offer liberal prizes for the best exhibits of apple pie, Dutch apple pie, apple cake, apple butter, apple jelly and cider vinegar.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, superintendent of the show says: "Of course the women of Indiana can cook! The Apple Show has offered $100.00 in proof of this statement. If you are skeptical about it visit Tomlinson Hall during the week of November 13 to 19th and view the products of a real 'home industry.'"

The fragrant aroma which will pervade the atmosphere around these exhibits will recall the by-gone days spent in the old home kitchen on the farm. It will make the old feel young and the young feel gay. "There are over 300 standard ways of preparing the apple crop for the table but the commission has decided to limit the competition to these old stand-by receipts. The jelly should be exhibited in the regular jelly tumbler; the apple butter in gallon crocks and the vinegar in quart bottles.

"All of these materials will be judged according to their purity rating as well as their flavor and appearance. No entry fee will be charged and the competition is open to all. All exhibits should be in place by 5 o'clock Wednesday November 13 except the pies. These may be entered up to 5 p. m. Thursday and will be judged the following day.

"This is a chance for the Indiana cook to vindicate herself. Exhibit a pie and show the world that Indiana produces cooks as well as apples!"

ATTEND FUNERAL.

Connersville News: The funeral of Mrs. O. H. Alexander was held at the late home yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. There was a very large attendance, some of the gathering having come from a distance. Among these latter were Charles Caldwell and family, of Raleigh. Mrs. Riley Hiers and daughter, of Griffins, and Mrs. Anna Mitchell, of near Rushville.

AUTOS ARE USED AT A FUNERAL

Touring Cars Carry Mourners in Cortege at Occasion of Last Sad Rites.

OVER ROBT. TEMPLETON'S BODY

Deceased Visited California Gold Fields in 1852—Comes From Historic Family.

For the first time in the history of the family automobiles instead of cabs were used exclusively Wednesday for the mourners in a funeral procession, those using them being the members of the family of Robert Templeton, whose funeral was held Wednesday, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The services were conducted at the house, two miles southwest of St. Paul, at ten o'clock and there were eight touring cars for the use of the family when the cortege left for the cemetery. There were also a number of other machines in the procession.

The pallbearers for the service were Arthur, Gordon, Herbert and Glen Templeton and Fred Bailey and Robert McKee, grandsons of the deceased.

Robert Templeton came from a prominent and historic family. His grandfather, Robert Templeton Sr., and the latter's neighbor, Robert Hanna, were members of the original South Carolina pioneers who settled on the east fork of the Whitewater in Franklin county in 1905, 107 years ago last month.

When a young man the deceased, together with Judge Henry C. Hanna, visited the California gold fields in 1852 and dug the nuggets of auriferous ore, helped to flume the American river, and shot grizzlies in the Rocky mountains.

Upon his return he located at St. Paul and entered the general mercantile business, retiring to a farm a number of years ago.

The Templeton family is one of longlivity. Mr. Templeton was in his eighty-sixth year at his death. He has one sister living in Texas who is ninety years old, another sister in Brookville who has passed her eighty-eighth milestone and one brother in Kentucky who is over eighty years old.

MASONS WILL BE GUESTS AT SHOW

W. B. Leffingwell, Who is Arousing Interest in Knight Templars Lodge in West, Will Show Views.

TO APPEAR IN MASONIC TEMPLE

W. B. Leffingwell, a representative of a number of western railroads who is boosting the Knights Templar lodge of the Masonic order in the west, will give an illustrated lecture on the western country in the Masonic temple the evening of November 12. Only Masons and their families will be admitted.

The official lecturer will show moving and stationary views enroute on the Union Pacific railroad to Denver—the city of Denver and vicinity, Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak, Maniton, Cripple Creek, and all points of interest in Colorado as well as Salt Lake City and vicinity, Yellow Stone park, extensive views along "The Road of a Thousand Wonders," the Southern Pacific Company between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

The object in giving the lecture—show—is to create a new interest in Denver and the western country with a view to increasing the attendance at the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar which will be held August 11, to 15, 1913.

The members of the Raleigh Embroidery club will entertain their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Widau this evening.

special car to bring Mr. Sherman here. The car stopped at Morris-town where Mr. Sherman spoke briefly. He was greeted by a large crowd of school children waving flags.

John W. Kern was also a guest of the city that day. He came down on the special car. Senator Kern and the vice-president were very good friends, having come to know each other well when they opposed each other as vice-presidential candidates. Senator Kern paid this tribute to the vice-president today:

"Vice President Sherman was one of the most delightful characters I ever knew, and he was one of the greatest presiding officers the Senate ever had," said Senator Kern. "He was beloved by every member of the Senate and his death will be sincerely mourned by everybody who knew him. We first met when we were opposing candidates in the campaign of 1908, and we became fast friends almost at once. From the very moment I entered the Senate there was no end to his courtesies toward me, and we became like brothers. I was very fond of him, and I am, indeed, very sorry to learn of his death."

The honored guests and the reception committee were taken to the Watson home when the car arrived here and a light lunch was served, after which Sen. Kern, Vice-president Sherman, Lieut. Governor Hall and Mr. Watson spoke from a platform in the court house yard.

Many prominent men of all political parties came here that day from all parts of Indiana to hear and see the vice-president. He steered clear of politics in the afternoon. He spoke in a happy vein, and James E. Watson afterwards declared it to be one of the happiest speeches of the vice-president's career. The city was decorated in honor of Sherman Day.

A big Republican rally was held at the Coliseum in the evening of that day, the like of which had never been seen in Indiana in an "off" year. Republicans from all over Indiana were here and speeches were made by the vice-president, "Uncle" Joe Canon, James A. Hemenway, Mr. Watson and other prominent Republicans.

Mr. Watson would most probably attend the funeral of his friend, were the conditions any different from what they are now. His attendance would necessitate his canceling a number of important dates at this stage of the campaign. Although no word was received from here, today, it is believed that he will go on and make speeches according to the schedule he had arranged.

While speaking at Vincennes last night, Mr. Watson received the news of the vice-president's death and expressed his great grief. He is reported to have said: "I am overwhelmed with grief at the loss of my good friend." Mr. Watson had to leave Vincennes last night in order to reach Chicago for a noonday speech today.

Vice-President Sherman Was Well-Known Here After Visit in Rushville Last Year.

MANY MOURN HIS DEMISE

Closest Relations Existed Between James E. Watson and Second Highest Official in United States

A sketch of the life work of Vice-president Sherman will be found on page seven today.

The death of James S. Sherman, vice-president of the United States and candidate for re-election, at his home in Utica, New York last night, seems near at home to Rushville.

Because of his visit here a year ago Mr. Sherman was as well known here as any man of equal prominence in the United States. He was the guest of James E. Watson, one of his closest friends, here October, 10, 1911 and at that time prominent men of all parties were invited in to meet the vice-president.

Rushville people were prepared for the announcement of his death this morning when they read last night's dispatches to the effect that his condition was critical and that his death was but a matter of a few hours.

The acquaintance of many Rushville men with the vice-president, and his visit here last fall, was due to the fact that James E. Watson was a resident of Rushville. Mr. Watson and Mr. Sherman have been close personal friends for a long period of years. Their companionship probably was as marked as that between any other two men in public life in recent years.

They were first associated together in congress and came to know each other very well. A friendship was struck up at their first meeting which became more enduring as time passed. They frequently met at political meetings and conventions, and on a number of occasions Mr. Watson has delivered campaign speeches in the vice-president's home city.

Too, Mr. Watson has made special trips to Utica to visit in the Sherman household. It was for this reason that Mr. Watson frequently urged his friend to come to Indiana and visit in Rushville. Several times the vice-president planned a journey to this city but each time business or politics interfered.

A year ago last August Mr. Watson announced that Mr. Sherman would visit him here a few days during the month and plans were started for a big non-partisan celebration in recognition of the visit of the second highest official in the United States. But Mr. Sherman's plans went awry and he had to postpone the trip.

On October 9, 1911 the vice-president was to speak in Chicago. On the eleventh he was to be the chief orator at a big non-political celebration in a Michigan city at the occasion of the dedication of a dam. Former congressman Watson prevailed on him to spend the day intervening. October 10, here.

The big celebration is fresh in the memory of most Rushville and Rush county people. A reception committee, without regard to party affiliations, was appointed and journeyed to Indianapolis on an I. & C. Continued on page 8.

PREPARING FOR WATSON RALLY

Death of Vice-President Sherman Will Not Interfere With Big Rally Saturday

WILL SPEAK AT TABERNACLE

Visiting Delegations Will Take Part in Monster Parade—Plenty of Music and Red Fire.

The death of Vice-President James S. Sherman will not interfere with the Republican rally Saturday night and plans for the monster celebration are being carried forward. Mr. Sherman was one of James E. Watson's personal friends and they were very close in political matters. Mr. Watson will be unable to attend the funeral and the rally will be held as first proposed.

Mr. Watson's speech at the tabernacle will practically end the Republican campaign in this county. Mr. Watson will be accorded the biggest demonstration ever given him by the people of his own city and county. The committees in charge of the rally are hard at work and the parade, before the speaking, will be the largest ever held here, and the campaign will end in a blaze of "red fire" the like of which has never before been seen in this city.

The line of march has not yet been completed, but the present arrangement calls for the line to form in Eighth street, east and west from Main. The automobiles will form the first section of the parade and will be followed by the marchers. It is expected that at least seven bands and a number of drum corps will be in the parade. Over three thousand pieces of red fire will be used. Every Republican automobile owner has been invited to take part in the parade, and while the committee would like to have all machines decorated, it is not necessary.

The marchers will come in sections. One of the features will be the Republican first voters. The committee is meeting with success and a large number will be in the line. A meeting of the first voters will be held tomorrow night in the sheriff's office in the court house, where arrangements for their part of the parade will be completed.

The advertising committee visited all the surrounding towns and cities yesterday and met encouragement everywhere. At Newcastle a special train was "worked up." It is not known for a certainty that the train will be run but if it does it will stop at Eighth street and the Newcastle delegation will be given a place in the parade. The parade will start at 7:30 o'clock. It is estimated that a crowd of 500 will come from Shelbyville. They will come on the regular train arriving here at 6:50 o'clock and will return on a special after the speaking. An effort is being made to have the train stop at Main street so the Shelbyville crowd can participate in the parade.

The tabernacle, which will seat 3,500 people is expected to be packed for the Watson meeting. For a number of years Mr. Watson has closed the campaign in his home city and the best always comes last.

J. T. ARBUCKLE IS AFTER HIGH OFFICE

Would be Grand Warden of Odd Fellows in State—Grand Lodge Meets Nov. 19.

ISSUES UNIQUE POST CARD

J. T. Arbuckle of this city is a candidate for grand warden of the Odd Fellows grand lodge of Indiana and is making an active canvass for the office. His prospects for election are said to be very bright. The grand lodge will meet in Indianapolis November 19.

A post card has been printed as a means of disseminating the news of Mr. Arbuckle's candidacy. On one side is a fine likeness of Mr. Arbuckle, surrounded by the insignias of four degrees of Odd Fellowship. Below the picture is printed: "Franklin Lodge No. 35, Rushville, Bernice Encampment No. 12 and Rushville Rebekah Lodge No. 132. Compliments of Franklin Lodge No. 35."

On the address side of the card are some statistics regarding Odd Fellowship in Indiana. June 30, 1912 there were 765 subordinate lodges, 65,553 subordinate members, 599 Rebekah lodges, 46,117 Rebekah members and 290 Subordinate Encampments with 18,568 members.

Will M. Sparks and W. R. Jinnett, candidates for the legislature from this county, spoke at Raleigh last night. A good spirit was manifested while the issues of the campaign were being discussed. The county candidates attended the meeting and made a brief appeal for votes.

Johnson was away at the time and the fire was discovered by a neighbor.

THIS THE NIGHT FOR THE SPOOKS

Everything is in Readiness For The Annual Festival of Fun and Tomfoolery.

GHOSTS AND FARIES ROMP

Indications Are That There Will be Immense Crowd of Masquers Downtown.

into the merry world of make-believe, into the merry world of mave-believe, if you would like to live over again the happy fancies of your long lost childhood, if you would put away for a little while the blunt realities of existence and feel once more the glow and gladness of old-time fairy tales, do up the chores early this evening and come down town to see the Hallowe'en spooks and sprites, ghosts and goblins, elfs and ogres hold their annual festival of fun.

All the people of the town and a considerable number of grown ups are going to participate in this picturesque bit of foolery. They will begin coming forth as soon as the supper hour is over, and by 7:30 o'clock the business district will be clogged and overflowing with them.

Most of us, no matter how old we have grown, are still friends of the fairies, and, too, most of us are still a little bit in love with the imps. They are the beloved playfellows of the dear old days when we still had stardust in our eyes. That is why we have a welcome awaiting them on each of their annual returns. This is why we find ourselves fondly and foolishly hoping that the weather man will be in a pleasant humor and that every tot, codger and duffer in all the town may be furnished forth with the livery of Spookdom and have his fill of Hallowe'en fun.

It is hoped that the evening may not be marred by any sort of offense. Hallowe'en was not made for rowdiness, obscenity and vulgarity, but for harmless frolic. It is one of the happiest of the annual festivals when it is kept free from ruffianism. For the most part, Hallowe'en observances have passed off in an orderly way. This has been due in a considerable degree to the close surveillance the police have kept over the masquers. This same surveillance will be exercised this evening. Many extra officers will be in the crowd, and they will promptly take into custody any person, large or small, whom they see indulging in unbecoming conduct of any kind.

Masquers are warned to keep away from the saloons. Destruction and misplacement of property is also strictly forbidden. Vandalism will not be tolerated. Damaging and destroying the effects of others can not add any real enjoyment to anyone Hallowe'en.

EMPLOYERS WHO COMPETE

Marion Chronicle: So far as the labor question is concerned the competition is now among employes to obtain help. This is infinitely better than competition among the workingmen to find work. The work is here and it is the result of a beneficent administration. A vote for any other than the Taft ticket is a vote to change and any change is at the best a chance that the country can not afford to take.

CONVERTS TO BE RECEIVED SUNDAY

People Who Went Forward at Tabernacle Requested to Affiliate With Church of Their Choice.

FRUITS OF COUNTY CAMPAIGN

Its Influence is Expected to be Felt Here For Months—Increased Church Activity.

That the influence of the Biedewolf revival which closed this week will be felt in Rushville for many weeks to come is the sentiment among the ministers as well as many laymen in Rushville. Its influence will not only be felt here, but to the far corner of Indiana as an attempt will be made to stir the religious forces of other counties to follow the example of Rush county and hold a county-wide evangelistic campaign.

According to the cards which were signed and which have been turned back to the ministers of the various churches designated, at total of 248 people was added to the church roles of the Protestant congregations in the city as a result of the meeting. But the ministers believe that the list will probably reach three hundred as the result of the campaign. There are any number of people who have been persuaded by the sermons of Dr. Biedewolf that they should take up the Christian life, but did not go forward at the tabernacle.

Many signified their intention of joining church during the meetings but they preferred to wait until they closed and then go forward in the church of their choice. Many are expected to join yet for this reason. Also it is believed that church additions will be increased the next few months because of the influence of the meeting on those aside from the number who have already said they intended to join.

The cards returned to the ministers show an approximate total of 248 additions as a result of the tabernacle meeting. These are not all converts to the Christian religion. A small number are people who have moved here but have identified themselves with their church. Others are those who lost interest in church work and resolved to become active in the cause of Jesus Christ again.

The cards were distributed among the churches as follows:

Main Street Christian, 101; St. Paul M. E., 85; United Presbyterian, 30; First Presbyterian, 17 and Baptist churches, 15.

All converts at the tabernacle meetings are urged to attend prayer meeting at the church of their choice tonight. All those who are prepared will be baptized at the Christian church. All that can possibly attend will be received into the Christian church Sunday morning.

The St. Paul M. E. congregation plans to make the prayer meeting tonight an echo meeting of the campaign. At the close of the meeting another meeting will be held to organize a personal workers class. The new members will be received into the Methodist church Sunday morning. This is understood to be the plan at all of the churches.

Copies of the magazine which was published by the Biedewolf party and which contained a review of the county campaign here are the instruments which are being used to advertise the meeting all over Indiana. Continued on Page 8.

The Richmond Item accuses James E. Watson of saying: "There are more frauds, more hypocrites and more d—n scoundrels in Wayne county than in any other county in the whole wide world." If Mr. Watson really said this it is only evidence that it is not always fair for a man to judge a town by its newspaper.

J. G. Criswell, a painter living at 540 North Mulberry St., Hagerstown, Md., states: "I had kidney trouble with a severe pain across my back, and could hardly get up after sitting down. I took Foley Kidney Pills and soon found the pain left my back. I could get up and down with ease, and the bladder action was more regular and normal." Try them at F. B. Johnson & Co.

THE NEW YORK

Uncle Sam's "Last Word" in Warships Successfully Launched.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

New York, Oct. 31.—In the presence of President Taft and a great company of invited guests, the mammoth battleship New York, last word in Uncle Sam's sea fighters, slid into the waters of the East river from the Brooklyn navy yard. It is estimated that 40,000 people witnessed the launching.

CHEER THE COLONEL FORTY-ONE MINUTES

New Yorkers Welcome Roosevelt Back.

New York, Oct. 31.—Last night at Madison Square Garden Colonel Roosevelt spoke to 15,000 people. They cheered him for precisely forty-one minutes and thirty seconds.

There was no indication throughout this storm of applause that it was anything but spontaneous. It was directed at Colonel Roosevelt himself. Oscar S. Straus and Governor Johnson of California, the other speakers, received a hearty welcome from the crowd, but it was Theodore Roosevelt who drew out burst after burst of cheering and shout after shout of greeting. No one forgot that the colonel had been in great danger and was back among his people again.

Throughout the long tumult Colonel Roosevelt stood at the front of the platform looking out on the cheering audience. The strain showed itself in his face, which was not as full as when New York saw him before his wound. By the end of half an hour his face was gleaming with perspiration and his jaws were snapping nervously, as though he were bent upon keeping himself in trim for the speech.

But it was clear that he was enjoying the thunderous reception. Time and again his face broke into smiles and up would go his left arm in greeting to his friends. He made no effort to use his right hand at all, but a gesture from the left was enough to set the crowd into uproar after uproar. Once in a while he would turn from facing the audience, while the singing or cheering in his honor, and would drop a quick comment to Senator Dixon or Governor Johnson, who were standing near him on the platform. It did not take a knowledge of lip reading to know that the colonel was saying that it was a fine meeting.

When at last the uproar was quelled and the colonel was able to start upon his speech, his voice rang as clear and his accents were as firm as ever.

CHECK "STUBS" WERE BURNED

Evidence Against Iron Workers' Secretary Destroyed.

LEO RAPPAPORT'S TESTIMONY

Attorney For Iron Workers Was Put on Stand in Trial of Alleged Dynamiters and Compelled to Tell Jury How He Obtained Possession of John McNamara's Private Papers and Checkbook and Destroyed Them.

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—In the dynamiting cases Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the iron workers' organization before and since the arrest of John J. McNamara was forced to tell the jury that he got possession of McNamara's checkbook and cancelled checks and that he had destroyed them. He said that he took possession of McNamara's private papers, including the blue checkbook and some cancelled checks, and took them with him to California when he went there before McNamara pleaded guilty. His client asked him, he said, to destroy the checks and book and he had done so.

Judge Anderson questioned the witness as to his knowledge of McNamara's confession before he destroyed the checks, and Rappaport admitted that the confession had been made, but said he did not know its full import. The district attorney endeavored to get an admission from the witness that some of the checks represented payments to McNamara, but his memory was defective.

Robert J. Foster, a detective for the Erectors' association, testified to many conversations with Herbert S. Hockin and told the jury how he had arranged with Hockin to get books and papers from the iron workers' office and how he had superintended putting the photograph under the desk of President Ryan. According to Foster, Hockin came to him with many suggestions as to methods for trapping the defendants.

BETTER ROADS

Indiana's Plea to Be Sounded in December Convention.

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—The announcement of the Indiana Better Roads convention to be held in this city Dec. 10-12, under the auspices of the commercial organizations of Indianapolis, is attracting much attention over the state, and there is promise of a large and representative attendance.

Papers and addresses by able speakers will be presented covering the construction and maintenance of highways, improved methods of administration and the proposed law relating to highway commission and state aid, automobile taxes and national aid for national highways. The committee on entertainment promises something novel that will interest the delegates.

There will be a most interesting exhibit of road material and machinery. The United States office of public roads has consented to send its great exhibit to the convention, and Purdue university will exhibit its road testing laboratory.

FATAL AFFRAY

Shots Flew Wild and Struck an "Innocent Bystander."

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 31.—William Lockhart was probably fatally shot in the Hinky Dink Tierney saloon by George Greeno of red light notoriety, who was trying to shoot Bert Hill because the latter was with Mamie Shadrick. Hill was shot in the shoulder, and the woman was struck in the jaw. Lockhart, who was wounded in the abdomen, was an "innocent bystander."

The saloon is headquarters of the election manipulators and adjoins the voting booth of Precinct A of the Sixth ward. One hundred and thirty-five names are registered by voters giving the back room of the saloon as their address.

Refuses Apology to Court.

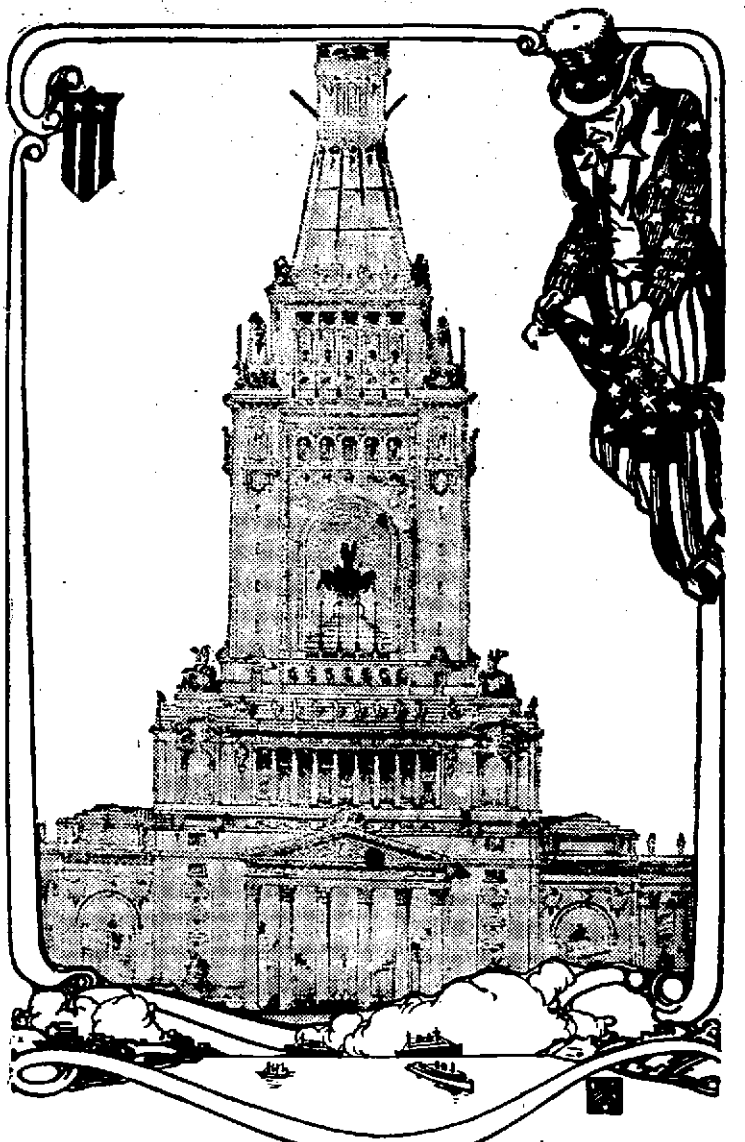

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 31.—At the inquiry of the Taylorville registration cases Inspector Andrew Berkley refused to answer questions on the advice of his attorney, Joseph Roach. Judge Fox ruled the witness should answer and when Roach told Berkley not to answer Judge Fox ordered the attorney to apologize. Roach failed to comply with the court's order and he was sent to jail for two hours for contempt.

May Die From Injuries.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 31.—Walter Stonerock, aged eighteen, a west side youth, who was compelled to "hit the grade" and was struck by a stone by jealous east end youths because he had called on Margaret Keener, is still unconscious. Henry Schiele, aged nineteen, and Walter Smith, aged sixteen, are in jail. Schiele confessed he threw stones. Other arrests will be made. Physicians fear Stonerock will die.

These Rabbits Came High.

Princeton, Ind., Oct. 31.—The most expensive rabbits ever killed in Gibson county were killed by Sam Carter, John Carter and Earl Cox, who were fined $24.75 for hunting out of season.

TOWER OF THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

FROM an architectural viewpoint the dominating feature of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the huge tower of the Administration building. Rising 375 feet in height and flanked on either side by the domes, towers and minarets of the eight great exhibit palaces, the huge tower will be at all times the most conspicuous feature of the Exposition City. From San Francisco harbor it will appear as the central feature in the great rectangle of exhibit palaces, whose sky line will be 110 feet in height, whose domes will rise 144 feet and whose lesser towers will be 175 feet in height. From afar this central group will appear almost as a single palace, four-fifths of a mile long and 1,200 feet in width; nearer at hand it will be found that the exhibit palaces are interspersed with great open courts, each designed by notable groups of America's foremost architects. The inner courts will express the highest ideal of the architect, the sculptor, the colorist and the landscape gardener. The Exposition palaces will be the loftiest ever constructed; the grouping of huge buildings will give an effect of almost inconceivable massiveness and grandeur. At the base of the tower, which will occupy an acre in extent, will be a huge arcade beneath which visitors may enter from the main exposition entrance into the grand Court of Honor. This court, which will be 700 by 900 feet in its greatest dimensions, was designed by McKim, Mead & White.

Watson and Foulke.

"Scholarly, dignified, convincing and pleasing to the large audience at the opera house Tuesday night," says a Shelbyville newspaper of the address of William Dudley Foulke, the Richmond millionaire newspaper publisher and ranter.

Of the Watson meeting the night before the same paper said:

"Mr. Watson's 'hired hands' from Rushville lead in all the applause.

They understood when and where to touch off the fire works, but the touching point was always at the end of some nonsensical story framed to make people laugh, and it is a mighty slow brain that won't laugh at a good story told well."

Six hundred people are all that could be drummed up to hear Foulke. The opera house was packed with seventeen hundred people to hear Watson and hundreds more would have been there if they could have crowded in. You may judge which one the people wanted to hear.

The newspaper is the Shelbyville Republican, which has never had the courage or the backbone, until the last two weeks to come out squarely on the issues of the campaign. The editor waited all those weeks for the band wagon and then didn't climb on it after all.

It was this newspaper that said tickets were furnished free to "many" to make the trip to Shelbyville lead in all the applause, which is a palpable falsehood. The Rushville delegation at the meeting was drowned out by the enthusiastic reception given Mr. Watson by Shelbyville's own people.

One man we know was furnished a free ticket to Shelbyville. He is one of the "main springs" of the local Bull Moose movement who renounced his allegiance to the Big Moose, trampled his Bull Moose pin in the dust and swore fidelity to the Republican party. The next day he came back to Rushville and denied that he had done anything of the sort, declaring that he had been begged and persuaded to go to Shelbyville.

The great difficulty with the Democratic party, the reason why it has so seldom been given power, is that it is addicted to irresponsible criticism. It has no policy on which the people can depend. When charged with the responsibility of doing anything, it has always made a mess of it or done nothing.

A prominent Democrat living in Marne, Iowa, having been asked to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund, replied that he would like to do so, but if the Democrats came into power he knew that financial gloom would settle over the country and that he must, therefore, protect his credits.

Business men remember 1893 when the last Democratic administration caused universal distress and bankruptcy.

Falsehood's Finish.

Governor Hadley of Missouri, who had charge of Roosevelt's seventy-two contests upon the floor of the Republican national convention—after Roosevelt had abandoned 164 contests which were admittedly without the slightest shadow of a foundation—is squarely supporting President Taft. He says that the Republican party has done nothing to

Sam Sanderson Says:

That ordinarily you have to present citizens with a chromo and a trading stamp to make them vote, but this year its looks as if they would do it without any premiums.

mar its splendid record of decency and honesty.

Governor Deneen of Illinois, who materially aided Roosevelt's cause in the pre-convention campaign and who prepared a resolution at the Chicago convention in the interest of the Roosevelt claimants, is also openly supporting President Taft. He declares that Roosevelt confessed to him that there were only thirty-four delegates whose cases had possible merit and that even regarding these honest men might have a difference of opinion. Colonel Roosevelt, with characteristic vituperation, denounce Governor Deneen as a falsifier and a crook. The people of Illinois know whom to believe.

The testimony and attitude of these men, former supporters of the now bolting Third Party and Third Term candidate, will put a quietus upon the false and malicious accusations of Colonel Roosevelt concerning so-called stolen delegates. There never was any foundation for the charge, but gradually and surely the truth is becoming known.

Wilson enthusiasts look queer when they try to make a list of states with the necessary 266 electoral votes.

Did the workingmen or the farmers prosper after the 1892 election of a Democratic president? They did not.

With all of his experience Mr. Bryan ought to tell Mr. Wilson not to place too much faith in straw votes.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

SWEET AND DEAR.

(Chicago Inter-Ocean.)

Nothing in the comradeship and loves of David and Jonathan, Castor and Pollux, or all the brotherhoods of myths or history is so "sweet and dear" as the message with which Albert Jeremiah Beveridge returned to George W. Perkins the paltry $30,000 he had contributed to Albert's 1904 campaign fund.

Beyond "words to express" was the gratitude with which Albert—whose words had never before failed him—kissed the three checks for $10,000 each and returned them to the "great loyal heart" from which they had exuded as the balm of Gilead for the salvation of Albert's senatorial hopes.

Thanks to the liberality of the national Republican committee, Albert had no use for "a cent of the magnificent amount," or the "splendid sum" that George had so generously placed at his disposal to keep the Democratic wolves from the door to the United States Senate.

And so they went back with the most tender assurance that: "Your beautiful friendship, steadily proved as the years pass, is very sweet and dear to me.

With tenderest affection, as ever,
ALBERT."

Oh, George! Oh, Albert! Oh, mush and molasses!

No wonder George, in the ecstasy of undiluted joy over this saccharine gush of Albert's epistle, only remembered that $10,000 had been returned. Between such "great loyal hearts" what matters an odd $10,000 or two?

No wonder the amount of the base dross was forgotten while the "sweet and dear" evidence of Albert's lovely appreciation was cherished. In George's innermost breast pocket to be produced in the stuffy atmosphere of a congressional committee's investigation. For a moment the air of the room was filled with the mingled odors of sweet lavender, frangipani and patchouli, and then the committee adjourned.

Comments On Durbin

Buffalo News: Governor Durbin is the kind of executive to recall the famous warrior of Wisconsin, who modestly admitted that he "seen his duty and he done it."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Governor Durbin has shown that he sees his duty and is not afraid of it.

Hartford, Conn., Post: There are no vacant rooms to rent in Governor Durbin's spinal column.

New York Herald: Indiana has a real governor in Durbin. His message rings like a trumpet call to battle for the maintenance of law and justice.

Cleveland News: Governor Durbin of Indiana is not a politician afraid of his shadow.

Bridgeport, Conn., Telegram: When it comes to the question of duty, Governor Durbin of Indiana sidetracks politics. That's the right kind of an executive.

Washington Star: Governor Durbin of Indiana executes with courage and fidelity the commission which the people gave him.

Philadelphia Press: Governor Durbin is a man who knows his duty and has the courage to carry out his convictions.

Seranton, Pa., Tribune: The way Governor Durbin of Indiana slides politics when duty conflicts ought to inspire state executives everywhere.

Troy, N. Y., Times: Governor Durbin of Indiana is a man with a backbone, and it is in good working order.

Milwaukee Free Press: Governor Durbin of Indiana has sprung into a great measure of popularity by simply being a governor, instead of simply a truckling politician.

Newport, R. I., News: Governor Durbin has shown a noble disposition and a fine conception of public duty and the demand of justice.

New York Mail-Express: Indiana has the right man at the helm. He is good enough for a war governor.

Elmira, N. Y., Advertiser: Governor Durbin is a man of determination and "an executive worth his salt."

Saratoga, N. Y., Saratogian: Governor Durbin of Indiana seems to be made out of the right kind of stuff—a material that is even of broader calibre than the mere headship of a commonwealth.

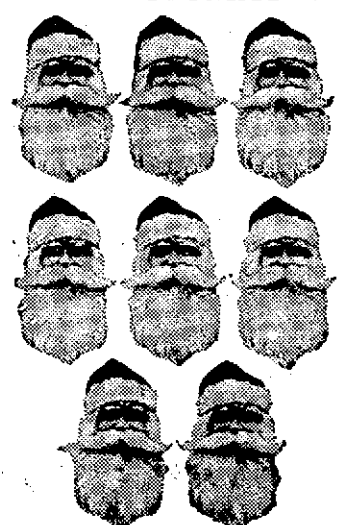

Burlington, Vt., News: Governor Durbin of Indiana is a model for all governors.

Collier's Weekly, July, 1903: "We may put away the Lanthorn, for a man is found in Governor Durbin of Indiana."

Instructions to Voters

If you desire to vote a straight ticket, then make a cross, thus, X, within the large circle at the head of the ticket containing the device of the party for whose candidate you desire to vote. If you do not desire to vote a straight ticket, you must not make a cross in the large circle containing the device of the party, but must make a cross thus, X, on the small square to the left of the name of each candidate for whom you desire to vote, on whatever list of candidates it may be. If the large circle at the head of the ticket is marked with a cross or otherwise and the ballot is marked at any other place, it will be void and can not be counted. UNLESS there be no candidate for some office in the list printed under such device, in which case you may indicate your choice for such office by making a cross, thus, X, on the square to the left of the name of any candidate for such office of any other list. The cross must be placed within or on the circle or square, or the ballot will be void and can not be counted.

THREE CANDIDATES MAKE ACCOUNTING

Risk, Gray and Jensen File Statement of Campaign Expenses as Required by Law.

GRAYS IS BY FAR LARGEST

William L. Risk, the Republican nominee for congress, has filed with the clerk of the house of representatives, an account of expenses incurred by him in his candidacy since his nomination. He showed that he had spent $58 in making the fight up to ten days before the election.

A report from Washington says the expense account of Representative Finly Gray, of Connersville, who is seeking another term in congress from the Sixth district on the Democratic ticket, was $220.35.

The expenses of the Rev. G. Jensen, the bull moose candidate, for the same period was $65. No other congressional candidates have filed this statement.

The Palace will again feature Mlle La Belle tonight. The mentalist will also be seen here Friday night. Mlle. La Belle again created a favorable impression last night by her readings. The first film tonight is a solax drama "Mick's Pal" and the other is a Powers comedy "Hats and Happiness."

The Princess has a picture tonight that should be of special interest to all base ball fans. It is the Rube Marquard picture. The picture is said to be very clever and besides showing the New York giants' star pitcher has a romance attached. Alice Joyce is also seen in this picture. Most of the picture was taken at the Polo grounds, New York and Marquard gives a demonstration of his pitching. The other picture is a Selig comedy entitled "Land Sharks vs. Sea Dogs."

PREMIUM LIST IS INCREASED

Corn Growers Expect to Attract More Entries to Annual State Show January 6 to 10.

GRAIN SHOULD BE STORED

The annual State Corn Show, under the auspices of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, will be held at Purdue University, in connection with the Farmers' Short Course, January 6th to 10th, 1913.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee, it was decided to increase the premium list and to make this show larger and better than any one yet held. The corn crop throughout the state gives promise of producing much high class show corn. State corn men are reporting that they are finding in the fields, some excellent ears, and will compete for some of the big premiums offered at the State Show. The premium list is now being prepared and all are sure that there is something good in store for the corn growers this year. Those who hope to make an exhibit at the State Show will do well to select their corn early and store where it will dry out rapidly and where it will be protected from the heavy freezes. Literature on the selecting and storing of corn can be secured from the secretary of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, Lafayette, Indiana.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN DEAD

Distinguished Patient's Last Hours Peaceful.

PASSES AWAY AS IN SLEEP

Some Hours Before the End Came the Vice President Lapsed Into a State of Coma From Which He Never Rallied—Surrounded by the Devoted Members of His Family, Our Country's Second Dignitary Passes Away.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—At his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock last night, James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died. The vice president lapsed into a state of coma during the afternoon and never rallied, passing from unconsciousness to death.

His end was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons, and their wives. He died in an uraemic coma, as the result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio sclerosis.

The vice president was able to say a few words to his wife and Dr. Peck during a few lucid moments in the morning, but never spoke thereafter. Mrs. Sherman is in a state of near collapse as a result of her husband's end, and Dr. Peck is ministering to her, while her three sons, Sherrill, Richard and Thomas, are seeking to comfort the grief-stricken woman.

A message notifying Mr. Taft of the vice president's death was flashed a few minutes after the end came.

Arrangements for the funeral are being made today. His last resting place will be in a magnificent mausoleum recently erected in Forest Hill cemetery in this city.

James Schoolcraft Sherman played an important part in Republican politics both in this state and in the nation. He was always "regular" and always active. His political career began almost as soon as he was graduated from college, and he held office practically continuously for the last twenty-nine years.

Mr. Sherman was born in New Hartford, a suburb of Utica, on Oct. 24, 1855. Oddly enough his father, General Richard U. Sherman, and two brothers were rock ribbed Democrats. One of his brothers being several times Democratic mayor of Utica, Jim, as he liked to be called, "flopped" over to the Republican side as a young man and, having made his decision, stayed put.

He prepared for college at Whites-town seminary and entered Hamilton, where he was graduated in 1878. He was admitted to the bar in 1880 and by then had attracted the attention of the local leaders, who made him county chairman in Oneida. He made so good as county chairman that two years later he was elected mayor of Utica and was the youngest mayor that city ever had. After that his rise in politics was rapid. In 1892 he was sent as a delegate to the Republican national convention, and he was chairman of the Republican state conventions of 1895, 1900 and 1908. Previously, in 1887, he was elected to the Fifty-first congress, and he was re-elected to serve in the Fifty-first, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth congresses. In 1900 the Republican senators caucus committee offered Mr. Sherman the office of secretary of the senate, while he was still a member of the house of representatives, and a little later President McKinley offered him a post as one of the appraisers of the port of New York. But Mr. Sherman's constituents held a mass meeting and asked him to continue to represent them in congress, and he declined the president's offer. That same year he was for several days a close rival of Theodore Roosevelt for the nomination to the vice presidency. Mark Hanna, it was said, at one time looked favorably upon the claims of Mr. Sherman's friends. Mr. Sherman, however, stuck to his congressional job until he was nominated for the vice presidency and elected on the ticket with Mr. Taft in 1908, to be renominated as President Taft's running mate at Chicago this year.

There was never any question of Mr. Sherman's personal popularity. He had a host of friends among the Democrats as well as in his own party at Washington. He radiated good nature and the familiar smile won him the name of "Sunny Jim." He was a big man, tipping the scales at about 225 pounds. He was an enthusiastic golfer and baseball fan.

Mr. Sherman was as shrewd a business man as he was a politician, and he was never so busy in public affairs as to forget to attend to things at home. He was interested in many manufacturing concerns and was president of the Utica Trust and Deposit company and the New Hartford Canning company. He was a member of the Metropolitan club of Washington and the Union League, Republican and Transportation clubs of New York.

The manufacturing plant of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia Steel company at Lebanon, Pa., was sold at public auction at the instance of the holders of a mortgage given in security of a bond issue. The plant complete was purchased by the bondholders.

TO NAME SUCCESSOR AFTER THE ELECTION

No Time to Fill Sherman's Place Before.

New York, Oct. 31.—This statement regarding the vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket was given out this morning by Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee:

"The national convention which met in Chicago in June delegated to the national committee the power to fill vacancies on the national ticket. The death of Mr. Sherman, the candidate of the Republican party for vice president at the coming election, makes it incumbent on the national committee to nominate a candidate in his place. That nomination, however, cannot possibly be made prior to the election next Tuesday. Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice could not be less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election. Meantime, no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the votes to be cast then are for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice president, and the death of Mr. Sherman, therefore, does not affect the validity of the election of the electors.

"I have called a meeting of the national committee to meet upon the 12th day of November, in the city of Chicago, at the Auditorium hotel at 12 o'clock noon, to select a successor of the late James S. Sherman as candidate of the Republican party for vice president of the United States."

CONFLICT GROWS DAILY BITTERER

Balkan War Lets Loose Flood of Hate.

DEADLIEST PASSIONS AROUSED

The Rage of Ages of Smouldering Enmity Has Broken Loose in Struggle Now Being Waged Between Moslem and Christian on the Border Land of Islamism and Modern Rules of Warfare Are Forgotten.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—After two days' fighting the Bulgarian army has gained a complete victory over the principal Turkish forces. The Turks have retreated in disorder.

London, Oct. 31.—The Turks say that their troops have made a sally from bottled up Adrianople. They broke out from the suburbs to the southwest of the city and say they headed toward Maras. The Ottomans say that 4,000 Bulgarians were cut to pieces by the charge of the sultan's men and were driven back to Komatlen, six miles to the south of the city. The correspondents with the Bulgarians, on the other hand, send word that Adrianople still suffers from the shells of the artillery thrown from a lofty summit overlooking the city. Fresh troops are arriving daily, according to the dispatches, to the reinforcement of the Bulgarians, and instead of being thrown back, they are drawing closer the grim lines around the besieged city.

Between Velez, captured by the Serbians, and Salinka, the Turks have massed some 35,000 men besides the whipped remnants of the army that ran before the Serbs at Koumanovo. In all, the Serbians claim the capture of twenty-two towns in Macedonia. There is not a Turk force worth the mention in the whole sanjak of Novi-bazar, according to dispatches from Belgrade, and the Montenegrin and Serbian forces there can strike hands.

No news has come from the Turkish war minister, Nazim Pasha, reported to be facing in desperation the Bulgarians who were circling round his flank in the country between Tule Burgas and Baba Eski. He said Tuesday that an important battle was in progress all along his front. Today he tells of the sortie of the Turk garrison at Adrianople to the north of him. Above Adrianople yesterday there swung two lines high up in the sky. It was a Russian biplane operating for the Bulgarians in an attempt to discover just what are the conditions in the besieged city. Instantly Turkish artillery was aimed upward. Of a sudden there was a fluttering movement of the plane and it flipped to earth, throwing out the aviator.

The Montenegrins report that they have completely encircled Sentari. The central column, under Crown Prince Danilo, has at last come in touch with General Martinovich's columns, and King Nicholas is reported as saying that the capture of the Turkish town would have come about several days ago had he not wished to have spared the lives of his fighters. Persistent reports that the Turks in their retreat are responsible for the most horrible massacres continue to come in to the capitals of the Balkans, and particularly from northern Macedonia comes the cry that the Turk is abroad with his knife, killing helpless Christian women and children.

BLOODY CLASH

Textile Operatives and Police Mix It at Little Falls.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Quiet prevails here following the bloody clash between the local police and frenzied textile operatives, led by organizers of the Industrial Workers of the world, which resulted in the slaying of a special policeman and the perhaps fatal shooting of a second police officer. Fully a score of strikers had their heads battered and more than thirty were taken into custody, including the leaders of the mob. With the leaders of the strike behind bars the police apprehend no further serious trouble.

Overcome by Cigarettes. South Bend, Ind., Oct. 31.—The smoking of a dozen or more cigarettes before school opened caused Russell Riggins, aged fourteen, to become unconscious and he is in a serious condition. The boy collapsed just before he entered the building. It is believed he smoked the cigarettes on a dare.

President Taft Deeply Affected By Sad News.

New York, Oct. 31.—When he received the news of Vice President Sherman's death last night, President Taft was much affected. The president was seated at the banquet table in the Thirtieth regiment armory, Brooklyn, as the chief guest of the navy yard employees after the launching of the new battleship New York. The message was brought to him by a secret service man.

"Oh, my God!" he exclaimed. Then he told those nearest to him of the death of Mr. Sherman. Tears sprang to his eyes and he stared straight ahead. When the Brooklyn navy yard's constructor, who was speaking at the time, finished his speech, the president arose. With a voice that quivered with emotion, he said:

"My friends, three years ago, at the launching of the Florida, you all met the vice president of the United States. Word has just come to me that he is dead.

"Those who knew him loved him. His death is a great loss to all. I venture therefore to ask you all that this meeting be adjourned in honor of his memory."

As the president ceased speaking all arose, with heads bowed, and quietly passed out of the armory.

The president, greatly affected, went slowly away on the arm of Secretary of the Navy Meyer. He reached the Pennsylvania railroad station at 10:35 o'clock and went directly to his private car. Half an hour later he issued a statement highly eulogistic of Mr. Sherman's character and work.

BECKER HOPEFUL

Sends Word From Death House That He Eventually Will Go Clear.

New York, Oct. 31.—Charles Becker, convicted in the first degree of the murder of Herman Rosenthal and sentenced to die in the electric chair on Dec. 9, is today lodged in the death house at Sing Sing prison, waiting the outcome of his appeal for a retrial of his case, or for the execution of the penalty upon his body. When he passed into his cell after a nerve-shattering journey from the courtroom where his doom was pronounced, his identity as Charles Becker was lost. Henceforth he is No. 62,449. His cell is No. 11 in the row of fourteen. Ten other murderers are his only companions.

Becker says he is confident that he will eventually be acquitted, and all the hours of his confinement will be devoted to planning for the new trial he is so sure will be granted him.

"Whispering Burglar" Sentenced. White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 31.—County Judge Platt sentenced Frederick Fawcett, alias Harry Jones, a burglar, to thirty-four years and six months in Sing Sing prison at hard labor. The prisoner, who was known as the "whispering burglar," was accused of robbing the homes of many wealthy New Yorkers on Long Island. As Jones already has spent twenty years, according to his own admission, in prisons, his total sentences aggregate over half a century.

The Decline of Illiteracy. Washington, Oct. 31.—There are fewer persons in the United States who can neither read nor write than ever before in the nation's history, according to special illiteracy statistics made public by the census bureau. In the entire population illiteracy has declined from 10.7 in 1900 to 7.7 per cent in 1910.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Emma Reel Expires at Home of Elvin Cook.

Mrs. Emma Reel, 65 years old, wife of Dan S. Reel, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. Reel's sister, Mrs. Elvin Cook, three miles northwest of the city. Mrs. Reel became ill in Dallas, Texas, and was brought here hoping to improve her health. Mr. Reel is a native of Jackson township and only recently came back from Texas after an absence of twenty-six years. Mrs. Reel is survived by her husband. The funeral services will be held at the Cook residence Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in East Hill Cemetery.

OF HIS OWN ACCORD.

Muncie Press: The Richmond Item calls "Jim" Watson, who retired from congress of his own accord, a "repudiated congressman," and refers to Fred Landis, beaten by 3,700 in a district that was 8,000 Republican two years before as a brilliant and popular statesman who represents the voice of the people.

PROGRESSIVE CENTRAL COMMITTEE ADVERTISEMENT

We, the Progressive Central Committee, of Rush County, heartily endorse the advertised position of the Democratic County Committee on the "Corrupt Practices Act." Progressives, in this respect, as in all others, we believe the day of the corruption of the ballot is past. We therefore demand that the election of Nov. 5th be fair and honest. To that end we pledge ourselves to see that none of the provisions of the "Corrupt Practices Acts" are violated with impunity.

PRIZES OFFERED TO HOUSEWIVES

Apple Show Commission Will Make Awards for Best Exhibit of Apple Pie.

AND OTHER FRUITS OF KITCHEN

Competition Will be Limited to Old Stand-by Receipts That Grandmother Used.

The Apple Show Commission has great faith in the cooking ability of the Indiana housewife. At a recent meeting of this body it was decided to offer liberal prizes for the best exhibits of apple pie, Dutch apple pie, apple cake, apple butter, apple jelly and cider vinegar.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, superintendent of the show says: "Of course the women of Indiana can cook! The Apple Show has offered $100.00 in proof of this statement. If you are skeptical about it visit Tomlinson Hall during the week of November 13 to 19th and view the products of a real home industry."

The fragrant aroma which will pervade the atmosphere around these exhibits will recall the by-gone days spent in the old home kitchen on the farm. It will make the old feel young and the young feel gay.

"There are over 300 standard ways of preparing the apple crop for the table but the commission has decided to limit the competition to these old stand-by receipts. The jelly should be exhibited in the regular jelly tumbler; the apple butter in gallon crocks and the vinegar in quart bottles.

"All of the materials will be judged according to their purity rating as well as their flavor and appearance. No entry fee will be charged and the competition is open to all. All exhibits should be in place by 5 o'clock Wednesday November 13 except the pies. These may be entered up to 5 p. m. Thursday and will be judged the following day.

"This is a chance for the Indiana cook to vindicate herself. Exhibit a pie and show the world that Indiana produces cooks as well as apples!"

AUTOS ARE USED AT A FUNERAL

Touring Cars Carry Mourners in Cortege at Occasion of Last Sad Rites.

OVER ROBT. TEMPLETON'S BODY

Deceased Visited California Gold Fields in 1852—Comes From Historic Family.

For the first time in the history of the family automobiles instead of cabs were used exclusively Wednesday for the mourners in a funeral procession, those using them being the members of the family of Robert Templeton, whose funeral was held Wednesday, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The services were conducted at the house, two miles southwest of St. Paul, at ten o'clock and there were eight touring cars for the use of the family when the cortege left for the cemetery. There were also a number of other machines in the procession.

The pallbearers for the service were Arthur, Gordon, Herbert and Glen Templeton and Fred Bailey and Robert McKee, grandsons of the deceased.

Robert Templeton came from a prominent and historic family. His grandfather, Robert Templeton Sr., and the latter's neighbor, Robert Hanna, were members of the original South Carolina pioneers who settled on the east fork of the Whitewater in Franklin county in 1905, 107 years ago last month.

When a young man the deceased, together with Judge Henry C. Hanna, visited the California gold fields in 1852 and dug the nuggets of auriferous ore, helped to flume the American river, and shot grizzlies in the Rocky mountains.

Upon his return he located at St. Paul and entered the general mercantile business, retiring to a farm a number of years ago.

The Templeton family is one of longivity. Mr. Templeton was in his eighty-sixth year at his death. He has one sister living in Texas who is ninety years old, another sister in Brookville who has passed her eighty-eighth milestone and one brother in Kentucky who is over eighty years old.

MASONS WILL BE GUESTS AT SHOW

W. B. Leffingwell, Who is Arousing Interest in Knight Templars Lodge in West. Will Show Views.

TO APPEAR IN MASONIC TEMPLE

W. B. Leffingwell, a representative of a number of western railroads who is boosting the Knights Templar lodge of the Masonic order in the west, will give an illustrated lecture on the western country in the Masonic temple the evening of November 12. Only Masons and their families will be admitted.

The official lecturer will show moving and stationary views enroute on the Union Pacific railroad to Denver—the city of Denver and vicinity, Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak, Manitou, Cripple Creek, and all points of interest in Colorado as well as Salt Lake City and vicinity, Yellowstone park, extensive views along "The Road of a Thousand Wonders," the Southern Pacific Company between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

The object in giving the lecture—show is to create a new interest in Denver and the western country with a view to increasing the attendance at the Triennial-Conclave of Knights Templar which will be held August 11, to 15, 1913.

The members of the Raleigh Embroidery club will entertain their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Widau this evening.

DEATH SEEMS CLOSE TO HOME

special car to bring Mr. Sherman here. The car stopped at Morris-town where Mr. Sherman spoke briefly. He was greeted by a large crowd of school children waving flags.

John W. Kern was also a guest of the city that day. He came down on the special car. Senator Kern and the vice-president were very good friends, having come to know each other well when they opposed each other as vice-presidential candidates. Senator Kern paid this tribute to the vice-president today:

"Vice President Sherman was one of the most delightful characters I ever knew, and he was one of the greatest presiding officers the Senate ever had," said Senator Kern. "He was beloved by every member of the Senate and his death will be sincerely mourned by everybody who knew him. We first met when we were opposing candidates in the campaign of 1908, and we became fast friends almost at once. From the very moment I entered the Senate there was no end to his courtesies toward me, and we became like brothers. I was very fond of him, and I am, indeed, very sorry to learn of his death."

The honored guests and the reception committee were taken to the Watson home when the car arrived here and a light lunch was served, after which Sen. Kern, Vice-president Sherman, Lieut. Governor Hall and Mr. Watson spoke from a platform in the court house yard.

Many prominent men of all political parties came here that day from all parts of Indiana to hear and see the vice-president. He steered clear of politics in the afternoon. He spoke in a happy vein, and James E. Watson afterwards declared it to be one of the happiest speeches of the vice-president's career. The city was decorated in honor of Sherman Day.

A big Republican rally was held at the Coliseum in the evening of that day, the like of which had never been seen in Indiana in an "off" year. Republicans from all over Indiana were here and speeches were made by the vice-president, "Uncle" Joe Canon, James A. Hemenway, Mr. Watson and other prominent Republicans.

Mr. Watson would most probably attend the funeral of his friend were the conditions any different from what they are now. His attendance would necessitate his cancelling a number of important dates at this stage of the campaign. Although no word was received from here, today, it is believed that he will go on and make speeches according to the schedule he had arranged.

While speaking at Vincennes last night, Mr. Watson received the news of the vice-president's death and expressed his great grief. He is reported to have said: "I am overwhelmed with grief at the loss of my good friend." Mr. Watson had to leave Vincennes last night in order to reach Chicago for a noonday speech today.
